GTS Story

“late. rain. bourbon.”

- dark and stormy
- projection of window with rain and lightning at night in background
- possible props of bourbon and glasses, turning table to a bev cart
- feels like a murder mystery

The Encounter

“I keep shit special”

- cheap shoe box apartment
- filled with cheap halloween decor, dollar store candles, and stock tarot card tapestries
- looks like it is half heartedly trying to be romantic or convincing

The Holler

“Urban Camping Adventure”

- the new home of a young couple moving in
- haunted slaughterhouse
- moving boxes, triple distilled drinks, and nicer looking furniture (the least aged ones on stage)

Ghost Bros

“A dark, abandoned place, a little bit jumpy”

- a paranormal haunted room that young adults are ghost hunting in
- scattered furniture left abandoned, open dark space

Something Like "Are you lonely"

- A studio apartment in a city that is in a state of disarray
- As A is grieving, I see her apartment as messy, and unkept. Dirty dishes, unwashed clothes, and random personal items scatter the floor and furniture

Game

"I've been waiting"

- A basement where kids are playing games. Maybe old toys scattered around, or just chairs for performers to hide behind and run around
- projection of an old basement in background

Bug

“A rubber ducky with the feathers rubbed off”

- We start outside walking, then transition to a broken down motel
- Bathtub and bed converge onstage as action takes the group to the motel
- projection goes from a haunted woods, to an old motel space

The Watchman

“I’d been seeing it all the time now”

- Furniture goes to edges of stage, or back to default positions
- a blank stage with maybe a haunted woods, or campfire feeling projection

The Bonnets

“Join me for tea time, you might not live for lunch”

- Furniture goes to edges of stage, in a circle
- Projection of something like a different haunted woods or something from a Salem witch trials
